About the Natural Dye & Eco Print Workshop

Join instructors Julie Beeler and Kathy O'Hern for a day of learning how to create natural dyes and eco prints with local plants to design a beautiful silk scarf. We will spend the morning creating natural dye baths from materials grown at Bloom & Dye flower farm in Trout Lake. We will play with different Japanese shibori techniques to create design patterns to use as your base for eco printing. The afternoon will be filled with designing your scarf with local plants to create a richly colored silk scarf with leaves and flowers. While the scarves are in the steamer we will create custom eco print cards for you to take home along with your silk scarf.

No previous experience with natural dyes, eco printing or textiles is necessary. Open to adults of all ages and young people 12 and up accompanied by an adult. Photos from past workshops at can be found here.

About Mt. Adams Institute Community Workshops:

Mt. Adams Institute's Community Workshops offer wonderful opportunities for us to build community, explore the natural beauty of the Columbia River Gorge, highlight local skills and passions, and raise scholarship funds for Cascade Mountain School students. The costs of the workshop directly contribute to the Cascade Mountain School scholarship fund, which provided over 40 youth 6-18 years old in the Columbia Gorge and Portland with over $13,400 in scholarships to attend our summer camps in 2018. We greatly appreciate the time and contributions of our Community Workshop instructors, many of whom donate their time to support our scholarship efforts.
